DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claims 12-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Orth et al. (5,591,197). Orth et al. disclose, at least in figures 1 and 1C, a stent comprising individual limbs fabricated from a medium having a cross-section profile in which one segment is flat and straight, the individual limbs are formed out of repeating elements, where each of elements is comprised of two curved portions having opposite direction of curvature, an intermediate straight, flat mid-portion connecting the two curved portions, and short straight segment at each end; where the elements are joined to the short, straight segments of adjacent repeating elements, where the stent has been provided with at least one strut in order augment expansion, where the stent has been provided with a multiplicity of struts to supplement each of the limb elements, where the stent comprises a multiplicity of identical limbs or wires in order form a cylindrical structure, and where the overall length of the stent is a multiple of the overall diameter of the cylindrical structure. See the figure below for an illustration of the abovementioned limitations.

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 19-21 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
4. The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: None of the prior art of record, alone or in combination, discloses a stent comprising individual limbs fabricated from a medium having a cross-section profile in which one segment is flat and straight, the individual limbs are formed out of repeating elements, where each of elements is comprised of two curved portions having opposite direction of curvature, an intermediate straight, flat mid-portion connecting the two curved portions, and short straight segment at each end, where the end of each limb has been provided with a barb or serrations, or at least one limb is provided with a hole.

As allowable subject matter has been indicated, applicant's reply must either comply with all formal requirements or specifically traverse each requirement not complied with. See 37 CFR 1.111(b) and MPEP § 707.07(a).

Response to Amendment

5. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 12-18 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
